

Table of Contents

Prologue	11
Rapping on the Cast(i)le Gates: Nationalism and Culture-Planning in Contemporary Spain	15
If a Million People March for Catalan Independence in Barcelona, Do They Make Noise?	45
Washington Seeks Stability. It is Not Likely to Recognize a Catalan State	49
The Essential Question of Our Time: Will We Live as Citizens, or Go Back to Being Subjects?	53
New National Structures Are Needed to Protect People Against Powerful Transnational Interests	59
Projecting Catalan Identity in the Contemporary World: A View From the Outside	89
Waiting for Positive Signs from the Great Powers is to Ratify Their Power Over You	103
No Centralist Power Will Allow Anyone to Leave Without Exacting a Price	105
Dignity is an Important Word	109
Les Bases de Manresa : Where They Came From and Why They Are Important	121
Media Control and Authoritarian Rhetoric: How Spain's Corrupt People's Party Continues to Rule	137

An Interview with Catalan Independence Leader Artur Mas	143
A Nation Too Liquid?	153
As Long as the Front Against Negotiation Exists in Madrid, the Level of Alienation in Catalonia Will Grow	155
Urgent: Forced Takeover of Catalan Government Institutions by Spanish Police	173
Catalonia: Spanish Centralism or the Self-Defeating Hubris of the Authoritarian Mind	175
Largest Newspaper in Spain Blames Russia and Antiwar.com for Catalonia Pro-Independence News	181
In the Midst of a Coup, Catalans Keep On Keepin' On	183
Last Sunday in Catalonia: Pirates 1, The Invincible Armada 0	187
The Disingenuousness of the “Procedural Irregularities” Case Against Catalan Independence	193
Mario Vargas Llosa is the Perfect Poster Boy for Spanish Unionism	195
The Baseless Myth of the Poor, Propagandized Catalans	199
When Viewed in Comparative Terms, Catalonia’s Culture of Democracy is Truly Impressive	201
A Polemic with a Professor at the University of Connecticut	209
The Major Question Here is the Role of Force in Elective Democracies in the 21 st Century	235
Catalonia and the Art of Differential Diagnosis	239

An Extraordinary Moment for Democracy in Europe	247
Big Media on Last Thursday's (December 21 st) Vote in Catalonia: "Never Mind"	249
What Nerve! In Catalonia They Are Once Again Trying to Swear-In the Coalition that Won the Most Votes	257
Rajoy and Catalonia: The Fear Behind the Bully's Rage	261
Professor Marlene Wind: Symbol of a Smug Denmark and a Power-Serving Academic Discipline	263
Civil Disobedience: Myths and Realities	269
Brand Name Progressives in the US ...and in Catalonia	271
When Spain Thought it Had Gained Promotion to the First Division of Lying States	275
The Establishment's "Controversialization" of Quim Torra	279
Why Must Governments in Catalonia Please All When Those in Madrid Can Simply Enact Their Programs?	281
The Unionists in Catalonia Turn to the Latin American Coup Playbook	283