

Contents

INTRODUCTION

The Enduring Impulse to Tell about the Self and the South Carmen Rueda-Ramos and Susana Jiménez Placer .....	15
--	----

PART 1

SUBVERSIVE (RE)CREATIONS OF THE SELF—PAST AND PRESENT

‘My Story Is Better Than Yours’: The Changing Politics of and Motives for Composing Southern African American Life Narratives Trudier Harris .....	51
---	----

Working a Lever: Booker T. Washington’s Autobiographies as Tools for Social Change Robert H. Brinkmeyer, Jr. .....	69
---	----

PART 2

THE LEGACY OF RACE: RECONCILING SELVES

‘I Knew Then Who I Was’: Memory, Narrative, and Sense of Self in Autobiographies of the Jim Crow South Jennifer Ritterhouse .....	85
--	----

Daily Encounters: The Coming of Age of Melton A. McLaurin Elizabeth Hayes Turner .....	95
--	----

Life Writing in Poetry and Prose: Natasha Tretheway's Personal and National Revelations Pearl McHaney .....	111
---	-----

Southern Autobiography Around the Table of Brotherhood: A Dream Deferred, a Dream Deceased, a Dream Destroyed, a Dream Dismissed? Ineke Bockting .....	127
--	-----

PART 3

AUTHORS, NARRATORS AND FICTIONALIZED SELVES

Memoirs' Characters: Writer, Narrator, Protagonist Peggy Whitman Prenshaw .....	145
---	-----

Faulkner and Autobiography in Fiction Thomas L. McHaney .....	161
---	-----

'A Someone Somewhere': Locating Richard Ford's Southern Self in his Fiction and Non-Fiction Gérald Préher .....	177
---	-----

Self-Fashioning and Philippe Labro's 'Southern Memoir' The Foreign Student Nahem Yousaf .....	195
---	-----

PART 4

TRANSGRESSORS AND PERFORMERS OF SELF

Appalachian Women's Autobiographies from the Margins: Crossing the Boundaries of the Genre Carmen Rueda-Ramos .....	217
---	-----

‘Pariahs for Flattering Reasons’: Confessions of Failed Southern Ladies on the Black Help Susana Jiménez Placer .....	235
‘A Tarnished Lady?’: Tallulah Bankhead’s Southern Performance in Hollywood Beata Zawadka .....	253
Grief and Humor: Appalachian Writers Using Autobiography to Find a Way Home Sandra L. Ballard .....	265

PART 5

SITES FOR SELF-EXPLORATION: TRAVEL AND ILLNESS NARRATIVES

The Self Elsewhere: Alice Walker’s Identity in the Wider World Jesús Varela-Zapata .....	289
Reflecting on the Region, Revisioning the Self: John Gould Fletcher’s Song of His Life and Its Transatlantic Context Waldemar Zacharasiewicz .....	303
The Physicality of Reminiscence: The Stimuli of the South in Bobbie Ann Mason’s Clear Springs: A Memoir Candela Delgado Marín .....	317
Coming to the End: The Perception of Mortality in the Autobiographical Writings of Reynolds Price and Tim McLaurin Marcel Arbeit .....	337
Contributors .....	361